12-Year-Old Chennai Schoolboy Launches His First Comic Book

CHENNAI

Twelve-year-old S. Kahanshwa, a Class VII student of SBOA School & Junior College, Anna Nagar, has launched his first comic book, 'K-Komix – Kahanshwa's Komix'.

The book was launched by renowned author and former senior United Nations diplomat R. Kannan at an event held at M Central, T. Nagar, Chennai, on August 29, 2026. The event was attended by Rotarians, family members, friends and well-wishers.

A passionate reader and storyteller, Kahanshwa has created a collection of five imaginative comic adventures, drawing inspiration from the books he reads and his love for storytelling. He also explored various AI tools to create illustrations and bring his fictional characters and stories to life. The book has been published by Kannadasan Pathippagam and will also be available through online platforms. Kahanshwa is an Annette Member of Rotary Club of Chennai Infocity.

Speaking on the occasion, young author S. Kahanshwa said, "K-Komix is the result of my love for reading, storytelling and imagination. I hope readers enjoy my adventures." His first book highlights how children can combine creativity, storytelling and emerging technology to express their ideas. For book details and purchase information, readers can contact the family via WhatsApp: 7550044730.

Students connect with hist, science and art at museum

SBOA School And Junior College organised an educational field trip to the Government Museum, Egmore for students of class IV. The objective was to provide experiential learning beyond the classroom. The children were excited to explore the children's museum, natural history section, and art galleries. They observed dinosaur models, animal skeletons, ancient coins, and traditional artefacts with great curiosity. The trip was both enjoyable and informative. It helped students connect with history, science, and art in an engaging way. The school thanks the management for their support in making this trip a success.

Park enabling students to experience science

SBOA School and Junior College has taken a dynamic step in making science both interactive and engaging through its science park. Blending science with nature, the park features models such as Newton's Cradle, the Pi Model, Wave Motion, Lissajous Figures, Musical Pipes, World Time, Angular Momentum, DNA model, Echo Tube and other scientific exhibits that spark curiosity and hands-on learning. The initiative encourages students to move beyond textbooks and become active participants in the learning process. By promoting inquiry-based learning, the school aims to nurture critical thinking and a deeper understanding of scientific concepts.

OMG

The Science Park reflects SBOA's commitment to creating a strong foundation for future innovators where science is not just learned, but experienced.

Students showcase smart, AI solutions at school science fair

R.Saivenkatesh

Chennai: Volcano models made of cardboard are no longer the top draw at science exhibitions in schools. Now, they have been replaced with prototypes of hydraulic robotic arms, AI face detection cameras and wind-powered trucks.

The inter-district science exhibition 'Laser 25' hosted by Madras Christian College Higher Secondary School for classes VI-XII on Wednesday, showcased the engineering aptitude of students. A robot to assist the elderly, a fall detection system, and automatic attendance markers were among prototypes on display from about 62 schools in Chennai, Tiruvallur, Kancheepuram, and Chengalpet.

The participants, in groups of two to three, were tasked with designing prototypes of ideas involving innovative technology such as AI, disaster management, and organic farming.

KUDOS: Rayyan S & Kahanshwa S who won third prize for their 'smart saver system'

They were divided into 3 categories -- Class XI-XII; IX-X; and VI-VII. M J Rayyan of Class VI, SBOA School and Junior College, who won the third prize in the 'topics' category along with Kahanshwa S for his 'smart saver system', said, "My mother once witnessed an accident and wondered if there was a way to alert friends or contacts if an individual fell off a bike. That's why I came up with this," he added. The system, which uses Arduino sensors coded through C++, connects a sensor to the motorbike. When a person falls off it, it detects the location and relays the information to a contact on its GSM module along with a distress message.

A robot designed by R Hiten of VIT International School, which can track and travel along lines drawn on the floor to assist the elderly at home, also grabbed eyeballs. Equipped with three buttons linked to the front door, kitchen, and room, the robot allows users to choose one destination from the three and travels to the spot to fetch or deliver an object. Students came up with prototypes for organic farming and wind-powered trucks that also run on solar panels.

Honourable Minister Meyyanathan Siva presented prizes to Rayyan M.J. (Class 6F) and Kahanshwa S. (Class 6J) at Madras Christian College (MCC) during the LASER 2025 Tech Competition. They secured the 3rd Prize in the category of "Innovation, Technology & Artificial Intelligence". Their project was selected from among 115 entries representing 62 schools across Chennai, Kanchipuram, Thiruvallur, and Chengalpattu districts in this District-Level Competition.

Celebration instils true spirit of Diwali

The festival of lights illuminated the corridors of SBOA School and Junior College on October 16, 2025, filling the air with warmth and joy for the little ones of LKG & UKG. The entire KG department was adorned with colourful rangolis, shimmering diyas, and festive lanterns that perfectly captured the spirit of the season.

The programme commenced with a melodious Diwali song sung in various Indian languages. The program further blossomed with a captivating skit portraying Shri Ram's triumphant return to Ayodhya after 14 years of Vanavasam highlighting the victory of good over evil. This was followed by a graceful North Indian dance performance, where the little ones twirled elegantly with diyas and dandiyas, spreading light and cheer all around.

A fashion walk showcased the essence of Diwali as did traditional sweets, savory delights, and a dazzling display of fireworks. The celebration concluded on a joyful and meaningful note, instilling in every child the true spirit of Diwali. Indeed, it was a day of light, laughter, and learning.

Enjoyable immersive experience at mock bird sanctuary

SBOA School and Junior College

Pre-KG students at SBOA School and Junior College recently enjoyed an immersive visit to a bird sanctuary set up within the school premises. Guided by teachers, the children identified models and photos of birds like peacocks, parrots, and sparrows, learning fun facts along the way. The session featured bird call mimicry and hands-on nest-making, making science lively and memorable. "Letting children interact with nature sparks real curiosity," said a pre-KG teacher. The event closed on a joyful note, with students taking home crafted bird nests as keepsakes.
